COUNTRY DYNAMO DEBBIE ANTHONY RELEASING SASSY SINGLE “LUCKY IN LOVE” IN THE U.S.

(Rochester, MN) September 5, 2017 – Classic country singer and entertainer Debbie Anthony will be releasing her single “Lucky in Love” in mid September to radio stations across the U.S. with the support of renowned country label SSM Nashville Records. The romantic, happy-go-lucky track is from the artist’s debut album, All Over Again, available now on multiple platforms.

“Lucky in Love” is inspired by the journey of her almost 30-year marriage and the power of family, faithfulness and everlasting love. The track was co-written by her husband, Mitch Anthony and Tim Hildebrandt, who also produced it. The catchy melody of the tune shines through Debbie’s soulful contralto voice and is bolstered by guitars, fiddle, piano and swinging rhythms. “Lucky in Love” and its playful arrangement shows the artist’s affinity for real, open, strong female country vocalists like Shania Twain, Wynona Judd and Martina McBride. It has already made a splash on the UK country charts, reaching #18 in its first two weeks.

Classic country artist Debbie Anthony shares handcrafted, heartfelt songs through energetic live shows and dynamic recordings. A seasoned performer with a relatable, authentic message for all ages, she channels wisdom, sass and positivity as she sings about everyday joys and sorrows and the strength that endures through life’s bittersweet ebbs and flows. A deeply-connected performer with a honeyed voice, Debbie delivers truth through energetic live shows backed by her band, Level Best.

A lifelong music lover, Debbie began singing her heart out as soon as she could talk, reveling in the warm tone of vocalists like Karen Carpenter and their ability to convey genuine feeling. She continued to fine-tune her craft through church groups and other ensembles as she evolved as an artist and performer. Her passion for country music and its contagious melodies and straight-talking attitude was ignited the moment she heard Shania Twain, and Debbie felt a true kinship to the genre. After earning a degree in music from North Central University in Minneapolis, Debbie focused on raising a family, satisfying her singing habit through contests and karaoke.

In 2015, Debbie’s nest was empty, and she took control of her lifelong dream to launch her musical career. Her husband Mitch, a prolific songwriter and the writer of 14 books in the financial services industry, wrote the song “Faithful” for her to celebrate their 25th anniversary. After rave reviews, she decided to record it in her hometown of Rochester alongside producer and songwriter Tim Hildebrandt, who formerly owned a production studio in Nashville. This successful collaboration led the team to write five more songs, which combined became Debbie's sparkling debut album, All Over Again. She celebrated its release in front of a packed house in January 2017.

Debbie has performed for audiences of as many as 15,000 and has been an internationally-featured artist on ReverbNation. Her entire album was featured on KRPR 89.9 FM, and she has received airplay on Scope Music, Women of Substance Radio and on Uganda's only country station, 92.7 BOB FM. "Faithful" is set to be featured on an upcoming episode of the popular TLC program, Say Yes to the Dress.

Dedicated to giving back to her local community, Debbie often mentors young artists and performs for and participates in fundraisers for organizations like the Boys & Girls Club and Ronald McDonald House.

Debbie is overjoyed to have her "encore career" in full swing and thrilled with the success of her first singles, "Faithful" and "Lucky in Love." She will be giving a series of radio interviews across the country and performing in Nashville and around Rochester and the Twin Cities with her band in the coming months.
